Some users may be able to log on to StanMed.net, but not be able to log on to the forums. This happens because you either did not receive the activation email properly, or you forgot to activate your account by clicking on the link in the activation email. If this has happened to you, please email the webmaster (at webmaster@stanmed.net) with your name, userid and email address that you used to sign up, and I'll be glad to help.
